DATES OF FIELD DAY EXPERIMENTAL STATION

The publication of this list has been delayed because of difficulty in arranging dates which will not conflict with other events. Study the list and select the subjects in which you are most interested. There is always something to see and learn at the Experimental Station on every Field Day a great deal of general information on farm problems other than the subjects especially under discussion is given through the talks and demonstrations.

The report you have read in the Canadian Press is quite truthful: it is our government's intention to abolish all department stores, chain stores and similar enterprises; but this cannot be done at one blow because of employment for them. Such enterprises have enormously developed in this country and therefore absorb many thousands of employees who cannot be put on the street without finding other possibilities of employment for them.

Such enterprises, which include the so-called "Department stores," chain stores, one-price stores, big bazars, postal-order enterprises, co-operative societies of consumers have proved to be the ruin of the honest trader, the single merchant doing a specialized business in one shop and one line only and since these single shop merchants are the backbone of the broad middle-class people on whom the power of the State is founded as much as the backbone of the peasantry, artisans, scientists, industrialists, etc., the honest specialized shop-trade must be protected if this trade shall not suffer complete ruin within a very short time. This shop-trade must be protected if this trade shall not suffer complete ruin within a very short time. "THUNDER AND GUNS"

Having stolen pictures from practically every star in Hollywood, W. C. Fields and Alison Sidgworth are now trying to steal a picture from each other.

These two lovable rascals are together at the picture called "Thunder and Guns." It will be shown here this week.

They decide to give the old crook a bit of his own medicine help themselves to a fortune and bring happiness to the young couple. How they do it by means of a diving suit and an old ferry boat furnishes the film with a score of hilarious moments.

Obstacles To International Agreement

Obstacles to international agreement are many and various, so many, so various as to baffle the vision of the conferees and defeat the ends sought. Particularly is this true when a complex of nations is represented round the conference table. Despite the good intentions of conferees, the high sentiments they express and the noble purposes they proclaim, invariably dissonance interrupts the even tenor of the proceedings, divergent points of view protrude themselves and, with each interruption and each protrusion, practical agreement becomes the more remote.

The conflict of opinion appears as with regard to the general objective sought, as with regard to the methods by which that objective can be reached. In the ultimate analysis, political rather than practical issues prove the stumbling block.

These thoughts are occasioned by the succession of disasters which has befallen world conferences held for perfectly laudable purposes during recent months. The League of Nations itself, perhaps the greatest agency for world co-operation yet devised, has suffered considerable loss of prestige through recurrent manifestations of local interest, local jealousies, pride and susceptibilities. In matters such as the drug traffic, in which public rather than political and national considerations are paramount, the League has been able to take decisive action and render invaluable service. But where political and national interests and prejudices are involved, directly or indirectly, its decisions have been of less unanimous acceptance. In fact, they have seldom been effective because they have been largely ignored.

In spite of the League and the large body of opinion supporting it, where matters of national significance have been broached, the nations involved have proved a law unto themselves, using the simple expedient of withdrawal from the League as a means of asserting their right to go their own way. Disarmament questions have brought prominently into the foreground this conflict of national viewpoints, and this innate desire for autonomy in matters affecting the peace of the world. There can be little question that world opinion, generally, favors disarmament on a sane and safe basis. It is equally true, however, that there is sharp clash of opinion as to what the basis should be and as to the methods whereby it should be undertaken. World disarmament conferences have proved futile, so far, in spite of the unanimity voiced by national spokesmen as to its desirability. All nations, it appears, are in favor of disarmament—provided the other fellow does it.

Strange as it may seem, while world conferences on the question are disheartening failures, the same can not be said with respect to understanding on the subject between particular nations. Bilateral disarmament agreements appear easy, by comparison. Where two or three nations are involved, amicable solutions come readily to hand. Britain, for example, has little difficulty in reaching understanding with Italy. Italy with France, and so on. Even with Germany amicable negotiations are possible. Yet, when Britain, Italy and France sit around a conference table with Germany, it becomes immediately impossible to focus all eyes on the same objective and on the same means of achieving that objective.

This is not to say that Germany is entirely at fault, or that the blame attaches to any particular one of the parties to the conference. It is apparently due to the complications which arise with every addition to the conference. Compromise as between nation and nation is easy; between three nations it is a little more difficult; but less difficult than when four nations are involved. Perhaps then, the real solution is to be found in multiplying bilateral disarmament agreements until the whole world is involved and all the nations are committed to peace.

The same course may be found the ultimate solvent of the world wheat problem. Apparently, the London Wheat Agreement has founded on the shoals of national aspiration for, as this is written, the Argentine has virtually negated the good work accomplished in the London conference, and the United States, in reprisal, is threatening unlimited production and the dumping of its surplus on the markets of the world.

The London conference resulted in what has been acclaimed as a unanimous agreement representing the first really co-operative arrangement yet reached by the nations of the world. It was the work of a finite thing in itself. It left certain important decisions for later consideration, particularly the matter of minimum prices. Experts met at Rome to discuss prices in accordance with the terms of the agreement, only to be met by objections from the Argentine and demands from that country for an increase of 40,000,000 bushels in her quota allocation. Having already virtually exhausted her export quota for the year as set in the London Agreement, the Argentine demanded an additional 40,000,000 which could only be given at the expense of other great exporting countries, including Canada. The price conference, however, reached certain tentative conclusions which were submitted to the governments involved.

The next stage in the proceedings was the London conference on prices to amend or ratify the decisions of the Rome discussions. Here again, clash of national interests proved a handicap. Doubts have been raised whether or not price-fixing by a central body is a sound practice to adopt. In fact, British grain men have been emphatic and outspoken on the subject. The head of the London grain exchange had no hesitation in stating that the representatives of the various nations were amiable gentlemen "but they knew very little about wheat." With warnings against price-fixing, demands for increased quotas, and threats of unlimited production, the whole agreement appears in jeopardy. Obviously, the complexity of national interests is accentuated in conferences on so large a scale as that at London. Perhaps (he it repeated) the solution may be found in a series of bi-lateral agreements involving all interested parties.

Japan Buying Scrap Iron

Recent Cargo From Australia Contained Variety Of Articles

Japan has been picking up scrap iron all over the world, and one of the most varied cargoes of this kind arrived the other day from Australia. There were steel rails red with rust, old sewing machines, and automobile fenders. On the top of one heap was a battered trombone. Scores of old drums ranged side by side with piles of worn-out machinery, ear whistles, cooking stoves, and scores of other ancient and apparently useless articles, together with hundreds of thousands of old horseshoes. Even obsolete cannon were in the cargo.

There appears to be a good future for certain varieties of prunes grown in Canada for drying purposes. The imports of prunes in 1932 fell to $555,397 from $717,525 in 1931.

Toronto Wholesale Concern Reports Great Demand For Harness

A Toronto wholesale harness concern reports largely increased orders. Leading manufacturers in Canada place the increase at 60 per cent. The orders come largely from Western Canada. This development in business, analyzed, shows that in 1932 horse collars made in this country aggregated 93,278, as against 64,928 the previous year, an advance of 50 per cent. This year's figures are not available, but are exact statistics for last year, but the increase shown in 1932 has been more than maintained.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

Faced Perils In Jungle

Surveyor And Wife Surveyed Wild Regions Of British Guiana

For several months Mrs. William La Varre, with her American husband explorer, faced all the perils of the British Guiana jungles while making a survey of the wild region in a search for diamonds which the adventurer believed are to be found in those regions.

Accompanied only by native blacks and Indians, says "Popular Mechanics Magazine," La Varre and his wife moved for week after week by painfully slow progress through one of the most inaccessible jungle areas ever penetrated by man. They found a fever-ridden country inhabited principally by many species of carnivorous animals and poisonous reptiles, but one of the greatest dangers was the myriads of howlers above and below the turbulent rapids they travelled by boat.

Impact with one of these howlers would have wrecked their boat and plunged them into waters teeming with crocodiles and alligators. The La Vares, however, were not to be deterred. They ate fish, which have been known to devour all the flesh from a human being or animal in less than five minutes. In some parts of the country, the explorers waded streams up to their necks, carrying their equipment and provisions above their heads.

DEPRESSED BY ACUTE ACIDITY

"There can surely be no doubt about the effectiveness of a remedy for acidity that gives such permanent relief as in this woman's case." "I suffered for many years from acidity in various forms," she writes. "At last it became so acute that every morning I woke with a gnawing pain and a great depression of spirits. I tried Kruschen Salts, and the effect was magical. The pain subsided and the depression lifted like a cloud. I have taken the daily dose of Kruschen ever since. That was about five years ago. And the Kruschen does not lose its effect." (Miss E. M. H.)

Kruschen is so effective with acidity because it neutralizes acid, takes all the torment out of it, and gently expels it from the system. It is a natural, safe remedy, and its elimination to prevent regular action. Kruschen will prevent this harmful acid from ever accumulating again. After that you'll experience no more misery after meals.

"Britain Of The East"

Story Of Japan's Progress And Development Reads Like Romance

Whatever may be said of the aggressiveness of Japan in the Orient, it must be acknowledged that she deserves the designation, "The Britain of the East." Never in the history of the world has any of the backward nations made such gigantic strides forward in the path of civilization as has Japan.

The story of her progress and development reads like a romance. From the very time when she reformed her government and established democratic institutions she has gone forward in the path of educational and scientific progress and in industrial development at a remarkable rate. Her educational and scientific institutions are among the finest in the world. Moreover, her army and navy have reached a stage of development that is second to no other country. Hence, Japan is a nation so perfectly equipped from a technical and scientific point of view that her competition may well be feared by other nations. To make light of her industrial development shows a lack of appreciation of the remarkable progress she has made.—Brantford Express.

May Increase Air Force

It Plans Carried Out Great Britain Would Lead World

London newspapers recently expressed the view that the United Kingdom is preparing to double the size of its air force and lift itself from third to first world air power.

Consensus of the press was that a statement by Stanley Baldwin, Lord President of the Council, that breakdown of the world disarmament conference would launch Britain on a campaign to bring its air force to parity of that belonging to any other nation within striking distance, meant a vigorous building program. Already, the papers said, an immense amount of detail work has been accomplished; airport sites have been surveyed, and tentative plans made to increase facilities for training pilots.

They added ample facilities existed for turning out machines owing to the up-to-date condition of aeroplane and automobile factories.

Soybeans Profitable

The Farmers' Advocate says many livestock men, and dairymen particularly, are finding soybeans a profitable crop to grow. The beans add to the protein content of the meal mixture and for hay they are both productive and palatable.

The fox-tail lily is a striking looking plant for the back of a large border. It is also known as "the desert candlestick" on account of its long strap-shaped leaves and tall spikes of flowers like a column or a candle.

CHILDREN'S CONSTIPATION
Ended

Mrs. H. T. Rowson, Athens, Ont., writes, "My baby boy was troubled with constipation. I gave him Baby's Own Tablets as directed. Before I had given half the box the constipation was relieved. By giving constipation, Baby's Own Tablets more than made up for the trouble. Much easier than any other medicine and perfectly safe for all little ones from the wee babe to children of school age. Women Aviators In Germany

Many Have Brilliant Records And One Is Daring Pilot

Hands capable of rocking cradles are rocking aeroplanes in Germany to-day where over 50 women are licensed pilots and scores of flappers are equally at home on the business end of a skifflet or a "stick."

Best known of the women pilots in Berlin is Thea Katchi, who visited America some years ago. She is the first woman to secure a pilot's license in Germany in post-war days.

Partnered with Ernst Udel, the German whittling ace, she soon acquired the name of "Reckless Thea," a translation of her name in the reverse.

Elli Beinhorn and Marga von Eldorff, who committed suicide in Turkey after crashing up her ship, also, "saw names for themselves by long flights overland."

Not only in the field of heavier than air machines have the German girls distinguished themselves, for Sophie Thomas is one of the few, if not the only, woman in the world eligible to pilot a lighter-than-air dirigible.

Friedl Reinicks, who could pass for a film star, she's that chic, holds several German women's records for sail planing. Up there, with no motor to guide her, it's a case of trusting to God and the outfields if anything goes wrong.

Fraulein Elli Gleazner is eligible to the "American pilots' "Caterpillar club," having taken to her "cute one time when a violent gust of wind knocked her sailplane out of control. Lola Schroeter makes the parachute a habit and a hobby. She is the holder of the women's record for parachute jumping in Germany.

And in mentioning the young German girls who have named their wings, you must include Germany's first girl flier, a ballroomist, Wilhelmine Reichardt, on May 4, 1907, was the first German woman to take to the air.

Batoune, de la Roche, received pilot's license No. 381. She was the first woman flier so recognized.

So while the flappers of other lands are learning the latest bridge systems or cocktail recipes, Fraulein Germany busies herself with struts, wings and the prop.

Canada's Metal Industry

Dominion Dominates World States President Of Mining Institute

Within 20 years Canada's metal industry has grown by such leaps that it was possible to-day for the Dominion to produce practically all the metal material of the world and all of the metal needed in the Empire. S. G. Blyock, president of the Canadian Institute of mining and metallurgy, stated.

He was addressing a complimentary banquet given to him by the Royal Forks Board of Trade in connection with the convention of the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia.

Canada dominates the world in copper, nickel, lead and zinc, said Mr. Blyock. There was little likelihood of the price of gold dropping for years to come. As a metal producer, the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Trail, of which he is vice-president and general manager, was not content with the 10 per cent. tax on gold. Nickel, lead, copper and zinc producers would be only too glad to pay millions in taxes on these metals if the price was 75 per cent. over the normal price of 20 years ago, he stated.

Secured Perfect Close-Up

Bear Was Not Quick Enough In Avoiding Camera

Provincial Constable T. M. Britton of Cranbrook, B.C., is a bear hunter, but not the usual type. He doesn't pack a gun. Armed with a photo-light outfit, the constable, with his friend, Game Warden Ben Rauch, went on the hunt and almost got into a bear's den before they could fire a "shot."

They got a perfect "close-up" of a mother bear and her cubs but "man" wasn't seeking publicity and tried to get away from the camera and its bright flash. With one swipe of her paws she gathered the young ones behind her just as the "shot" was fired.

Easy To Identify

The primary teacher was helping the children to tell the difference between the letters "d" and "b". "Johnnie, how can we tell these letters apart?" asked the instructor. "Well," answered the lad, "one has its stomach in the front and the other has it in the back."

Wants Room For Expansion

Mussolini Expresses Need For Italy To Seek Room In Africa And Asia

Geographic and historic reasons were given by Mussolini in an interview with Hector Bywater, editor of the "Daily Telegraph" in Rome, for the expansion of Italian power in Africa and Asia, and the need for a strong navy.

During the interview, Mussolini said: "Thirty provincial capitals are situated on the coast. Rome herself is near the sea. Geography is one of the immutable factors that determine the destinies of a nation."

Then he went on to say: "Geography and history both warrant the Italian race in Africa and Asia as objectives. We are nearer to those two continents than any of the greater western European powers. No one should mistake the meaning of our task. We are not thinking of any territorial conquest, but everyone should know that we are thinking of a natural expansion allowing us to co-operate with the nations of Africa and the Far East."

Mussolini then turned to the problems of the League of Nations and of disarmament, saying:

"The principle of the reform of the League of Nations, which is almost universally accepted, is clear. The reforms that are being considered should only be undertaken after the closing of the disarmament conference, because if this conference fails there will be no need to make any reforms. It will be enough to consider the work of the League of Nations as ended."

"It is generally considered that the conference will fail, at least as regards the most important objectives. The greatest armed powers will not disarm; those that are not armed will be in a position to arm with a more or less defensive purpose."

Paris Hotels Face Ruin

Taxes Heavy And American Tourist Business Falling Off

Instead of looking for customary new extensions as the tourist season starts, one leading Paris hotel, the Plaza-Athene, already has closed its doors, and numerous others are on the verge of doing likewise.

Hotel managers blamed two factors for their plight. First, that an average of one-third of all money taken in must be sent to the state in the form of taxes. Secondly, that the American tourist business has almost evaporated.

"If this continues for a short time more hotels will close up," said the director of a leading hotel in the Elipse district declared.

Here are a few of the hotel taxes: Six per cent. of every penny collected as a luxury tax. Four per cent. of all room bills as city tax.

A social insurance tax. A tax for apprentices. A tax for mutilated soldiers. A tax for operation. A property tax.

This totals from 25 to 50 per cent. of receipts.

New School Readers

Uniform Standard To Be Adopted By Four Western Provinces

A new standard of school readers has been adopted by representatives of the four western provinces to be used in the public schools. These representatives have been meeting from time to time for the past two years judging the contents of the books. The seven books in the new series are to be known as "High-roads to Reading." The books will be adopted as school readers for the fall term of 1935. All will be uniform in style and will be admirably bound and will have colored illustrations. The printing will be done in Toronto.

A Good Definition

Crooning? Here is a college professor's illuminating definition of it: "An exaggerated and distorted expression of emotional feeling, a kind of semi-musical noise that is emitted from the throat and attractive to some persons because it is something new. Only people of low intelligence like it."—It was described thus by Dean John Patten Marshall of Boston University College of Music.

Used Sign Language

Sign language was used by members of the Western Canada Association of the Deaf as the medium of presentation at a unique concert in Saskatoon. A short play, given by school pupils, depicted early education of the deaf in this country. In addition, "O Canada," was rendered in the sign language.

Radio Signals For Aviators

Ingenious Device Will Keep Fliers In Defined Lines

A device for visually interpreting signals of aeronautical radio range beacons has been developed by W. H. Jackson and L. M. Harding, radio engineers of the U.S. commerce department's aeronautics branch, according to Rex Martin, assistant director of aeronautics.

Signals, Martin explained, are received through headphones by aviators who rely upon them for guidance during periods of poor visibility. The device features an indicator which, fitted in the instrument panel, is similar to the contrivance used for blind landings. It is open-faced and has two needles—one vertical and one horizontal. The vertical needle, Martin explained, is chief indicator and when an aeroplane leaves the course defined by a radio beacon, this needle will move accordingly.

However, he added, if the aeroplane is exactly on course, the vertical pointer will remain in centre of the dial.

The horizontal indicator, the official revealed, shows the volume of received signals, which the pilots may adjust as he sees fit.

Egg Trade Responsibility

Responsibility As To Eggs Below Grade Placed On Seller

In case of dispute about properly marked cases of graded eggs, the Canadian egg regulations are quite explicit. No case or container of eggs is to be sold to be property marked if, upon examination by an inspector, the case is found to contain more than an average of 6% per cent. below grade, apart from breakage. In transactions between wholesalers, or between a wholesaler and a retailer, any complaints by the purchaser with respect to eggs below grade must be made to the seller within 36 hours of the receipt of the eggs. Thus, responsibility as to eggs below grade is upon the seller for the period of 36 hours after delivery to the buyer. After the expiration of the 36 hours the responsibility as to eggs below grade is upon the person in whose possession such eggs are found.

For Civil Servants

Want Temporary Employees Brought Under Civil Service Act

Representations on behalf of various classes of civil servants were made by V. C. Phelan, president of the Civil Service Federation of Canada, before the common civil service committee.

Mr. Phelan asked that 316 long temporary employees in various government departments who had been eligible for permanent appointment prior to 1927, but through negligence or some other cause were not appointed, now be brought under the Civil Service Act.

Sir John's Comeback

For an hour and a half Sir John A. Macdonald sat on a platform once and heard an opponent rake him fore and aft, call him seven different kinds of a scoundrel, and scourge him contemptuously. The crowd roared how Sir John stood it, and what he could possibly say when it came his turn. He got up, looked over the throng, smiled, and said: "What an old devil I must be." And from then on the meeting was his.

Phones For Dinner Guests

Guests at a telephone service dinner at Grosvenor House were able to talk to friends at the other end of the dining hall without leaving their seats, telephones being installed on the tables for this purpose.

Increased Payrolls

Movement In British Columbia To Improve Working Conditions

Payrolls in British Columbia have been increased by approximately $200,000 per month since the provincial department of labor started its drive through the board of industrial relations and other agencies to improve working conditions within the province, Hon. George S. Pearson, minister of labor, has estimated.

In the sawmill industry alone, the advance was about $85,000 a month, he said. The aim of the board so far, Mr. Pearson said, had been to set minimum wage scales as high as could be paid by the industries affected, but not so high they would be forced to stop operations. As conditions improved within a particular occupation, the level could be raised if necessary.

Trying To Find Secret

Manufacturers Seek Buddhist Method Of Producing Stainless Steel

To study four columns which have stood for 2,000 years without showing a sign of decay or rust, a body of European steel manufacturers are visiting India. They hope to learn how people of those days produced stainless steel. The columns were erected by Asoka, the great Buddhist emperor, in four districts of his Indian Empire. Each stands on a high rock and is inscribed with the laws of Asoka's reign. Through the centuries earthquakes have not shaken them and storms have not rusted them. The secret of their making is believed to rest with descendants of the makers, and the steel manufacturers hope to learn this.

A Good Fish Story

Archer-Angler Spears Fish With Bow And Arrow

Because he does not like to dig worms and bait hooks, Professor Harlan G. Metcalf of Ohio State University's physical education department has devised a new type of fishing which he calls "archery angling."

Angling "recently" in a stream with Dick Larkins, Buckeye freshman, football member, the professor surprised Yankees by using his bow and arrows to spear a fish weighing almost five pounds.

Public School Education

Public school education in Canada costs $23.63 per year per pupil, according to reports published by the Canadian government. The report shows the total expenditure is about $165,000,000 a year. In 1932 there were 86,216 teachers, 2,993,116 pupils in the Canadian school system.

Heavy Meat Eaters

One animal for every inhabitant in about 5,714,000 were slaughtered in California during 1933 the state department of agriculture revealed. Consumption of meat during the year amounted to 153 pounds per person—almost a pound a day for each individual.

SPEED UP THE WORK PROGRAM
It is either unfortunate that the Bennett Government has quixotic ideas of political fairness or that the Ontario and Saskatchewan elections should have been called at this time. A combination of the two has resulted in the holding up of the government's plan to provide work on a country-wide scale until late in the summer.

The program has been mooted for many months. The sum of $50,000,000 has been suggested over and over again as the amount which the government proposes to set aside for this purpose. In the meantime unemployment is showing no material change for the better in the prairie provinces at least. On the other hand, there appears to be a growing tendency on the part of a vociferous section on relief to demand more rather than less aid. They have become habituated to the relief rolls and propose to get all they can regardless of the plight of the taxpayers.

It is the latter who are entitled to some consideration at the end of four years of the dole system. In the great majority of cases the taxpayers are paying higher taxes, on less revenue than four years ago, and it is the enormous cost of relief that is forcing taxes up at a time when they should be reduced. There is so much agitation at present over relief quotas that the critical position of the bulk of the taxpayers is being overlooked.
A big federal works program should bring a measure of relief to the taxpayers because it will reduce the number of relief claimants. Government of all kinds have tampered with the relief problem, trusting that good times would soon return. They took the direct relief system as a stop-gap to tide over until employment increased. There is no noticeable change in the work or relief situation so far, and therefore the federal works program cannot be inaugurated too soon. It has been far too long delayed as it is, with the result that the relief problem has assumed formidable proportions.

ECHOES FROM BANFF
 Items about the Oxford Group House Party at Banff have been frequently heard.

The attendance included about one hundred members of the international groups, and representatives of large and small centres from the Atlantic to the Pacific, all deeply interested and in quest of what appeared to be a new demonstration of old time power of the Christian faith. So much has been published about this movement that it is not necessary to describe it. It is a great religious revival spreading steadily. On this visit the international group comprised more other persons. They said that before they were sewing seed, now they are showing plants for work beginning with full cooperation for personal service, and the practical application of Christian principles as a solution for present day problems, economic, individual and social.

This movement is inter-denominational and is receiving an eager, earnest host of followers from different Protestant sects and some Catholics.

The aim is not to start a new sect or creed, but to vitalize those now in existence. Groups have been formed in many places, in Lacombe there are several.

It is not the idea to confine it to any one church. Others interested are cordially invited, or members.

would gladly assist those who desire to form other groups.

May Ship Via Panama Canal

Route Being Investigated By B.C. Livestock Interests

The proposal by British Columbia livestock interests that beef cattle might profitably be shipped to Europe or British markets is again being investigated. B.C. cattle could be shipped alive through the Panama Canal from Vancouver and the feasibility of this is under consideration.

Statistics reveal that the move would not be so much a means of finding an outlet for any excess production, since B.C. already imports more than half as much beef as it produces, but would merely serve as an avenue for bolstering the price, if it were feasible. Stockmen claim that Alberta beef depresses their prices to such an extent that the industry becomes unprofitable for the B.C. producers. By shipping to the argument advanced, B.C. cattlemen could get a better price for their beef than they can on the home market, even with rates included.

Dr. W. R. Gunn, livestock commissioner, and J. A. Grant, marketing commissioner, have been discussing the matter with livestock men during their recent visit to Williams Lake.

Rich Radium Find

Biggest Pitchblende Strike Yet Uncovered In The North

Radium ore beds at Hottah lake, 100 miles south of Cameron bay, N.W.T., are even richer than first reports of prospecting parties stated, Edward Harcourt, Toronto mining man and managing-director of Great Bear development, revealed recently. "It is the biggest pitchblende strike ever to be found in this country or the United States," he continued. He displayed a sack of sample ore. He declared that in his company's field they have a ton of ore sacked and ready for shipment. It was taken out only with slide hammers.

He declared that the ore is worth $6,000 or $7,000 a ton, and will be shipped to an eastern refinery. He declared that silver is not showing yet in the new area, as at Great Bear lake.

Other Side Of Picture

Millions Suffering In Russia, Despite Successful Planning Idea

Eugene Lyons, American correspondent in Russia for six years, brings back a picture of life in the Soviet republic that contradicts the statements of American social planners who point to Russia as an example of successful planning and contented regeneration. In the June Cosmopolitan, he says:

"I have seen Russia's new factories and power stations, new cities and vastly improved armies. . . . On the other hand, I saw the hundred and sixty-four million Soviet human beings in their over-crowded homes and foul barracks, millions of them in exile, other millions struggling unaided in a direction they did not wish to go, all of them holding on desperately to food cards and passports. Then the ghosts of those whose lives had gone to fatten the plump statistics crowded in upon my mind and demanded for a place in the futile accounting."

Executions, Lyons says, are not referred to as such in Russia. He was once present in the chief prosecutor's office when there was some discussion about three men sentenced to death for speculating in grain. "All three have been sentenced to death," the prosecutor started to say. "Then he changed his words," Lyons says, "the highest measure of social defence."

Before returning to America, Lyons crossed Europe from end to end, finding at every frontier barriers of bayonets, tariffs, censorship, and spy systems.

"War," he says, "is again being idealized—the horrors of the last war are being carefully concealed. . . . Psychologically, at least, Europe is prepared for war."

"The danger of conflict between nation and nation is in the forefront of the picture. Behind that, tinged with the view, is the danger of a war between class and class. It cuts athwart all boundaries."

Pioneering In Alberta

Husband 95 and Wife 98 Toil Together On Farm

A silvery-haired couple are writing pioneering history in the northern Alberta bush settlement of Perryvale. Joseph Biglow, aged 95, and his wife, Elizabeth, 98, are still carving out a home for themselves on a little homestead, five miles west of there. Their story is a real saga of pioneering.

At an age when they might enjoy the twilight of life in retirement, this "young" couple decided they would like to try homesteading. He was then 82 and she was three years his senior. Nothing daunted, they set out to make a home in the bush. Mr. Biglow built a comfortable home and cleared 80 acres of bush land unassisted.

This spring they are going ahead with their farm venture. Mrs. Biglow actively attends to her household duties and Joe carries on with the field work, as happy and carefree as neighbors half their age. The mention of help is greeted with smiles and a toss of their silvery locks.

Joseph came to Canada from England at the age of seven. When he was 21 he married Miss Elizabeth Byers, at Orono, Ont. Later they moved west. Five sons and three daughters make up the family. One son, Joe, lives on an adjoining farm. They were living at Calgary in 1914 and Joe enlisted with the Canadian Expeditionary Force. He gave his age as 45. Two years later they discovered he had passed his 77th birthday and he was sent back to Calgary, discharged. There is a foaming the medical men.

An Accurate Forecast

Book Written In 1901 Foretold War And Subsequent Events

What would you say about conditions in the universe 33 years from now—or would you venture to look ahead that far? In 1901 Percy Blanchard, resident of Ellerhouse, Nova Scotia, wrote a book "After the Cataclysm" in which he foretold the extended use of the aeroplane and the radio.

He pictured an upheaval beginning in that year and, said a great syndicate would control all financial organizations. This would in the second decade bring a terrible upheaval, revolts and world bloodshed, he predicted. He made the year 1914 the turning point, and 1934 he prophesied as the time in which humanity begins on a new plan of uplift.

It was written at a period when reliable London newspapers were offering £1,000,000 for anyone foolish enough to fly in a heavier than air machine, and the wireless had just been invented. The idea of widespread use had not entered the public mind, yet the author describes the utility of them in detail and gave minute explanation of the way they would operate.

Although the manuscript was completed in 1901 the book was not published until 1909.

Among ruined cities probably the oldest in eastern hemisphere is Nineveh, the ancient capital of Assyria, which was known as far back as 2500 B.C.

Agricultural Notes

Many Items Of Interest To The Western Farmer

The first asparagus shipments this year from the Niagara district of Canada were made on May 7. The largest crop of tree fruits in history is expected this year in the Okanagan Valley, B.C.

The first British Columbia strawberries on sale this year at Calgary, Alberta, on May 2 were exactly one month earlier than last year.

Canadian cattle sales to Great Britain this year up to May 10 totalled 13,954 head, as against 12,246 for the same period of last year. For the first 19 weeks of this year, up to May 10, 1,224,582 hogs were graded in Canada, as against 1,220,786 for the same period of last year, an increase of 3,796.

Timothy is grown in England as a permanent mixture but it is not saved to any extent as a seed crop. The United States generally supplies the greatest proportion of this seed.

Canadian asparagus is regarded in Britain as the best available, and, since the United Kingdom harvests very little of this seed as a crop, the bulk of the requirements are drawn from Canada.

Toronto lambs made the high mark of the year under a moderate rain for the week ending May 10, when Western foot-lamb topped $9.50 per head. Spring lambs have a top of $9.50. Livestock Market Report. Dominion Department of Agriculture.

The reports of crop correspondents throughout Canada at the end of April indicated that prospects for the 1934 crops were below average, the most unfavourable conditions being reported from Ontario, Manitoba, and Saskatchewan.

Twenty-one large boxes of British-grown chrysanthemums were carried to Montreal in the C.P. liner Duchess of Athol, and forwarded by rail to British Columbia. The plants were rooted and grown in a special prepared soil, and were tended every day during the entire journey by sea and land.

Winter-killing of fall wheat in Ontario was particularly severe, the per centage (38) being the highest of any year on record except the disastrous winter 1917-18, when it was 56. Of the 631,000 acres of fall wheat seeded in Ontario last autumn, it is estimated that 246,000 (or 39 per cent.) acres are winter-killed.

The contemplated reduction in spring wheat acreage in Canada this year is divided among the three main provinces—101,000 in Manitoba (4 per cent.), 1,622,000 acres in Saskatchewan (11 per cent.) and 395,000 acres in Alberta (5 per cent.). The other provinces, where spring wheat is almost negligible, show little change.

There is a smaller carryover of hay this spring than there have been for many years, owing to the strong demand caused by the past long severe winter. It follows, says the Dominion Seed Branch report for April on hay marketing, that the market hay crop for 1934 will need to be larger than usual so as to meet the requirements of next winter.

Winter injury to fall rye in Canada was most severe in Ontario and Saskatchewan. In Ontario 18,300 or 29 per cent., of the 62,600 acres sown to fall rye were winter-killed, leaving 40,000 acres for harvest. In Saskatchewan 38,000 or 19 per cent. of the 200,000 acres sown, were winter-killed, leaving 162,000 acres to be harvested. For all Canada, 422,400 acres were sown to fall rye, and 15 per cent., or 61,800 acres, is estimated as winter-killed.

When Elections Were Hectic

Toronto Had To Call Militia In Vote Of 1934

"On Monday last the election of a member to represent the city took place."

This "Snash" greeted Torontonians 100 years ago when they picked up a copy of the Toronto Recorder of October 15, 1834, to read details of a hectic election campaign. There were riots which necessitated calling out the Grenadiers to restore order. One man was killed.

Before learning from the paper which of the two candidates was successful during the six days of balloting, the reader had to total the individual poll results. He then discovered—if he added correctly—"Mr. James Small, a practicing barrister of long standing in the city," would represent Toronto in the legislative assembly of Upper Canada. Small won by 48 votes over Mr. Sheriff Jarvis, who trailed with 1081 votes, compared with the victor's 1129.

The newspaper, which boasted the only publication during the "great excitement and unusual bustle," when practically every place of business was closed, reviewed the nomination meeting, election campaign speeches and other features. Then it cited "the most disgraceful disorder in which we regret to add, one man named Byrne, has unfortunately lost his life." The paper went on to recall the efforts of police and militia to quell the riots.

It has been estimated by radio broadcasting companies that the average radio set is used about four hours a day.

COTTON BLOUSES ARE SMART!
COOL FOR SUMMER, PATTERN PROVIDES FOR BOTH STYLES

Don't miss this opportunity to order today's pattern. It provides for both styles illustrated. The high neck blouse, with short raglan sleeves gathered into wrist bands, is alluringly feminine.

You can fashion it of sheer cotton crepe prints, organdie novelties, cotton net, handkerchief novelties, lawn prints, pastel tub silks, etc.

The V-shape neck blouse with that windblown bow is decidedly young. Any of the cotton prints as checked, or striped seersucker, plaided ginghams, pique, lawn, satin are attractive for it. Tub silks and laces are also lovely.

Style No. 843 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 years, 34, 36 and 40 inches bust. Size 16 requires 2 1/4 yards of 39-inch material for View A; View B requires 1 1/2 yards of 39-inch material.

Price of pattern 20 cents in stamps or cash. A practicing barrister of long standing in the city, would represent Toronto in the legislative assembly of Upper Canada.

Little Journeys In Science

MOLECULES

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

Scientists believe that all matter is composed of very small particles called molecules. These molecules are invisible and cannot be observed even with the aid of the most powerful microscope. It has been calculated that it would require about forty million molecules, touching one another, to make a row one inch long. Again it has been computed that a small, thoughtful, of air contains about twenty-seven billion billion molecules. There are spaces between the molecules which are supposed to be much larger than the molecules themselves. These spaces between the molecules are known as the inter-molecular spaces.

Molecules are constantly in motion and they are also elastic. The hydrogen molecule, for example, has an average speed of over a mile a second and keeps going again and again about ten billion times per second under ordinary conditions.

In the case of gases the molecules are quite separate and distinct and have great freedom of movement. The particles of a gas appear to be perfectly elastic, and as a result their motion is slowed up when they collide with one another, or when they strike the sides of the enclosing vessel. The pressure of a gas upon the vessel is due to the molecular pressure of the gas upon the walls. A definite quantity of a gas held in an open vessel is capable of expansion. Gases therefore very compressible. A good illustration of this fact is that when a quart of water is evaporated it yields about seventeen hundred quarts of steam, measured under the normal pressure of the air and at the boiling point of water. This shows us why a strong vessel is required to hold steam at high pressure.

A liquid is more compact than a gas, that is its molecules are closer to one another, and therefore have less freedom of movement. When a liquid evaporates some of the molecules escape into the air. The speed of a molecule depends upon its temperature. The warmer the warmer the molecules of a liquid are lost first. This migration of the warmer molecules from a liquid results in a fall in temperature when a liquid evaporates. It is well known that water is cooled in certain countries by placing 300 woven vessels in order to promote evaporation.

Solids, like liquids, are much more compact than gases. The molecules of solids are much more restricted in their movements, and appear to vibrate or rotate about fixed centres of rest.

Electricity Helps Farmers

Greater Use In Scotland Is Making Life Easier

Farmers of Scotland are using electricity to speed growth and make life easier. Nearly 400 are employing it for milking and in butter making. Market gardeners have recently found that they can accelerate the growth of vegetables by starting them in a hot-bed warmed by electricity. The "magical current" is just being introduced into hen houses, lights early in the evening and morning, deluding the biddies into believing the day is longer and thus causing them to lay more eggs. Ultraviolet rays produced from a lamp is being used extensively in the rearing of chicks.

A Women's Who's Who

With an array of over 6,000 sketches of English women, Hutchinson & Co., the London publishers, will soon launch a "Women's Who's Who." The list has taken two years to prepare and contains the names of 150 women air pilots, 3,500 women doctors, 500 women justices of the peace, 300 women county councillors, 84 women architects, and dozens of solicitors, estate managers, housing pioneers and members of parliament.

For the third successive year, Australia has dominated the China wheat trade.

During the California gold rush, roast grizzly bear sold for a dollar a slice in that state.

Cotton production in Egypt this year is expected to be double that of 1933.

Hamelin To Celebrate

Will Commemorate 650th Anniversary Of Pied Piper's Visit

All living "children" and children's children of the ancient town of Hamelin, Germany, received invitations to return for a grand homecoming which started May 30 and running for the summer to commemorate the 650th anniversary of the strange Pied Piper of Hamelin.

They will retell the sad tale that befell all of Hamelin's youngsters when they were led off by a spiteful musician "dressed in a garb of bright colors" and were swallowed up by the earth to the tune of his weird piping. Only a little cripple who, according to legend, couldn't keep up with the merry crowd, lived to tell the tale, which Robert Browning put in English verse.

It was on June 26, 1284, the story goes, that a piper cast a fatal spell over the children, all because the town fathers bickered and refused to pay him his just due for riding the town of a plague of rats.

The legend is traced back by some authorities to the children's crusade of 1211, by others to a wholesale abduction.

Recipes For This Week

(By Betty Barclay)

BRAN BRITTLE

1 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup light corn syrup
1 cup water
1/2 cup butter
1/4 teaspoon salt

Remove from fire, add butter and salt and stir only enough to mix well. Add bran and turn at once on a greased slab or on a greased inverted pan or baking sheet. Smooth out with a spatula. After about a half minute take hold of the edges of the slab, pull it up slightly from the slab, pull it up as thin as possible. Break into irregular pieces. Provides 14 pounds.

Britten Tows His Bit

Gives Farthing Toward War Debt With Advice To U.S. Congress

Half a cent was paid on Great Britain's $4,000,000,000 war debt and at the same time a piece of advice given the United States about "this war debt business."

Martin Pitt, a Britisher, sent it to the standing committee of congressional correspondents in a letter. He said:

"Congress says Great Britain must pay, so as a humble Briton I am sending my bit—a farthing (half a cent) to the standing committee. 'We have knocked off thousands of millions of pounds owing to us from other nations simply because it was a mill stone around their neck,' he said, 'and it was no use bullying them or trying any other way to get it. The sooner you realize this the better.'"

Island Colony Of Lepers

Everyone Works At Something And People Not Unhappy

A certain amount of happiness in primitive and isolated surroundings falls to the lot of the 200 members of the leper colony of Orfara on the South Sea Islands of Tahiti, according to a mission from the French government. The mission was headed by Dr. Jacques Le Mee, a prominent specialist, who was assisted by two other French physicians.

The Orfara colony is set in a clearing of deep underbrush at the water's edge and is a remarkable combination of beauty and simplicity. Except for two nurses sent out by the hospital in Tahiti to attend the diseased for a period of four years, all persons in the colony are lepers.

The colony is under a self-government scheme. By popular vote a mayor and his assistant are elected annually. Every new arrival is allotted a plot of land on which he may build his bungalow. There are both a Catholic and a Protestant church, and Dr. Le Mee declared that a sermon delivered by the local preacher was one of the most moving he had ever heard.

An unusual feature of the Orfara colony is the fact that the stricken inhabitants are intermarried. The children, who are scarcely ever afflicted with the disease of their parents, are immediately taken away from the colony and either adopted or sent to an orphanage.

Everyone works at something, and a great part of the leper's life is spent fishing in boats made by the group. The enjoyment of freedom and the solitude of the sea tends to make these pathetic people less unhappy.

In the afflicted colony there are no petty jealousies or squabbles, according to Dr. Le Mee. All the inhabitants, except for the two nurses, are in the same condition and seem to strive to make the lives of the others pleasant, bearing the savages of the disease with the greatest fortitude.

The French physicians left Tahiti with the firm conviction that leprosy is not contagious, but is contracted from some impurity of the soil, thus being more prevalent in warm climates, where the natives seldom use footwear.

Legacy, a new, promising variety of oats, produced by the Cereal Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, from a cross between Banner and Eighty Day has done particularly well in Northern Saskatchewan, Central and Northern Alberta, and in the Eastern Townships of Quebec.

Hot cranberry sauce is good on waffles.

In Germany, bats are called "Fledermause," meaning "flying mice."

KINDERGARTEN CONCERT

Unique and fascinating was the program put on by the children of the Brownie Kindergarten in a concert held in the I.O.O.F. Hall on June 19th. Mrs. Wm. Murphy, teacher of the kindergarten, demonstrated to audience which packed the hall to overflowing, the wonderful work which she has accomplished with the little folk during the past year. Miss Iris Powers, assisted at the piano. Examples of the children's work in plasticine, crayon drawing, etc., were displayed on tables. To open the program an introduction was made of the characters by six boys, Stewart Murphy, Leslie Parsons, Reggie Wilson, Bobbie Chapman, Don Perry, Don Murphy. These boys sang "The Baby Parade," the little tots dressed in old-fashioned costumes, filed by and made their bow to the audience as their names were mentioned.

The program consisted of old songs, folk dances, quadrilles, recitations, and a flower song, following which a presentation of bouquets was made to the mothers of the performers.

Taking part in the program were Jackie and Bobbie Wilson, Dorothy and Catherine Graham, Joan Chapman, Shirley Wilson, Jackie Simpson, Mary Lou Parsons, Margaret Marshall, Joan Cruickshank, Viola Lindskog, Margaret and Iris Murphy.

BENTLEY CLUB WOMEN HOLD JUNE MEETINGS

Sufficient funds for making an addition to the manse was reported at the regular June meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the United Church, meeting at the home of Mrs. J. G. Evernden.

Chapel District W.I. held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. S. Whitworth, when a large crowd was in attendance.

Mrs. John Schmidt was hostess to the Search Light Ladies' Club of Gull Lake, on Wednesday, when 26 were present. Neighborhood helpfulness is the object of this club, and formed the business discussion.

CHARGED WITH

Pesce River, Alta.—James Whannel was charged with the murder of Matthias Schmidt, and was remanded for preliminary hearing to commence Friday at 10 a.m. Schmidt, an Edmonton man, was killed May 29 in the lonely shack on his newly-purchased farm near here.

The arrest of Whannel came as a sudden, but not unexpected sequel to the inquest into Schmidt's death which Wednesday resulted in the open verdict that the man was killed by "person or persons unknown."

Whannel has been held for some time as a suspect in the case, and was believed the last man to see Schmidt alive.

John Kikorski, neighbor of Schmidt testified that on the night of May 21 he stopped by Schmidt's place and that Schmidt told him a visitor sought lodging for the night, but there was no room for him.

Kikorski pointed to Whannel as the man and said that he took him to his own home for the night, his guest leaving on the following morning. Schmidt's body was found wrapped in blanket in a trunk in his shack on May 29 by police who were searching for him.
